Airborne

In discussing "The Impact on Business of the Transportation of Property by Air," K. N. Merritt, of the Railway Express Agency, feels there is a bright future for business and industrial concerns planning to use air express for distribution of postwar products. The Army is restoring many of the planes taken from the commercial airlines for war purposes. They are being converted to civilian use. This will mean better and more frequent schedules, says Mr. Merritt, and with a decrease in production of certain war materials and increased space available, distribution facilities are constantly increasing.

The business man who has been reading a lot about the advantages of shipping his products by air, will have a chance to experiment in new and distant markets—he can begin to lay his plans to meet postwar competition. As an example of how air shipments can be used for entirely new purposes, and thereby create entirely new business, Mr. Merritt cited the conventions. Most of such traffic is flown in planes which carry express only.

A study by Wayne University on fruit and vegetables as air cargo, bears out Mr. Merritt's ideas. Such shipments await production of cargo aircraft for economical transport. According to the survey, the potential air traffic in fruits and vegetables alone at 16 cents a ton-mile is approximately six times the total of all airborne express in 1941; at 7 cents, 80 times; at 5 cents, 233 times; and at 3 cents, 968 times the total air express volume in 1941.

Thus do we see in the making previously unheard of opportunities that will provide new avenues of employment after the war.

Intelligent Action At Last
 When the government started its program of building giant dams throughout the United States for the purpose of flood control, irrigation, navigation, etc., the public was given to understand that electric power development would be a by-product, and largely sold to existing private electric transmission systems for distribution to consumers at equitable rates to be established by the government.

Actually Federal power agencies followed an opposite policy. The dams have been used primarily for power purposes to compete with private enterprise, thus destroying taxable assets, while themselves remaining tax exempt.

The result has been hundreds of millions of dollars of unnecessary public expenditures loaded onto the backs of already groaning taxpayers.

In California, however, an example of how Federal dams can be operated according to the original program, has been witnessed. Under a contract with the Federal Bureau of Reclamation, power from the great Shasta dam, which will in fact provide irrigation water to many California farms, is being sold to the Pacific Gas & Electric Company which serves Northern California. Beginning January 1, 1945, the company will pay the government a minimum of $2,700,000 a year for the output of the dam, and payments may exceed $3,000,000 a year—millions which the government may apply to operating costs and to reducing the cost of water to the farmers of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys.

How much better is such a policy than for Federal agencies to start duplicating the distribution facilities of private power companies, thereby destroying taxing power.

This constructive policy should be adopted in other areas where tax-exempt Federal dams are being used for political purposes to cripple or destroy private power companies in furtherance of an out and out program to socialize the electric industry.

CINEMATIC CHATTER

By Malcolm Miller

To my notion this picture, "What a Woman," which is scheduled for the Everglades Theatre for this coming Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday, is one of the best and funniest pictures of its kind that has been sent out of Hollywood this season.

Listed in the cast are, Rosalind Russell, Brian Aherne, William Powell, Jean Harlow, Edward G. Robinson, Norman Varden, Douglas Wood and many other clever performers. This picture has a double feature to be screened. First one up is "Rocket Man" which is known in this game as and Douglas Fowley, all clever people. Second one listed is "She's for Me." Due to Grace McDonald being in it you can bet it will be a light musical comedy and Grace will sing considerably. Listed in the cast with Grace are David Bruce and Lois Collier.

Thursday-Friday also lists a double feature. First comes "Glacier Street Boys" which is by Leo Gorcey, Huntz Hall, Rudy Jordan and several members of the East Side Kids in an action show that is destined to keep you interested throughout the evening.

Saturday brings Charles Starrett in another whopper of a

GRASS SEED HARVEST

ample seed supply for Florida. Grasses are already seeding and ready for harvest in many areas. He says that grass seed can be harvested by any one of several methods, but that combining is by far the most popular method. Mowing seed heads and spreading them on land to be seeded is quite feasible, he adds, or ripe seed may be mowed, raked and stacked for threshing later by combine. A seeder-atachment for an ordinary mowing machine is another possibility. The soil conservationist recommends that seed be spread thin on clean floors and turned frequently until they are cured, then sacked and stored where rats and other rodents cannot destroy them.

tract of Bahia, and plans to harvest seed on a share basis. "More seed to produce more grass to produce more food is essential to Florida agriculture, which is doing its share in the war food production program," says Mr. McMullen.

Churches of Christ, Scientist, Lesson-Sermon

"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, August 20. The Golden Text is: "Not that we are sufficient of ourselves; think anything as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God" (II Corinthians 3:5). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!" (Rom. 11:33).

MAIL OVERSEAS

(Continued from page one) know that the personnel in the armed services to whom they plan to send gifts are at far distant points should begin to mail their packages on the opening day—September 15—of the mailing period. Last year late mailings, causing concentration of great numbers of packages in the final days of the mailing period, threatened to defeat the program. It is stressed that success can be assured, with the limited personnel and facilities available, only if the public gives full cooperation, through prompt mailings of the overseas gift parcels from the opening of the mailing period.

Crop Disaster To Be Followed By Quick Price Adjustment

Definite progress toward adoption of a formula by which Florida vegetable growers can expect quick price adjustments in the event of a crop disaster, was made in Washington last week by the Office of Price Administration. It was reported by officers of the Florida Vegetable Committee who were in attendance at the conference.

Loring Russell of Sarasota, Chairman of the Florida Vegetable Committee, Monte Graw, Committee Manager, Pete Lins of South Miami and Joe Lins, Secretary of the Florida Farm Bureau attended the meetings and expressed themselves as being encouraged by the progress made.

In general, the conferees reached agreement on a procedure to establish price ceilings sufficiently high on the various commodities to absorb the effects of a crop loss of as much as 25 per cent. This would make it possible for prices to rise without delay.

Major disasters affecting more than 25 per cent of the crop would have to be adjusted by special action, necessarily slower in effect, possibly taking 14 days to accomplish.

Both OPA and WPA plan to hold hearings soon on the price ceilings of various commodities, on some of which notices already have been issued. Members of the vegetable industry will have opportunity to be heard before the final price ceiling orders are issued.

Objects to World Calendar

Protest against the proposed new World Calendar being advocated by the World Calendar Association, Inc., was made last Saturday by the Belle Glade Seventh-day Adventist church. In a stated service devoted to this subject, Pastor Nevins Harlan declared the movement for the new calendar to be anti-religious, pointing out that its adoption "would bring great confusion and perplexity to the people of all religions who conscientiously worship on definitely fixed days of the weekly cycle, whether it be Sunday, Saturday, Friday, or any other day."

The resolution adopted points out that the change in the calendar to adjust a 365-1/4 day year to 364 days to be divided into equal quarters of 91 days each would "irrevocably disturb and set aside fixed religious days of the world's great faiths, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish."

Plans were made in this meeting for carrying on an educational campaign by which the various effects of the proposed new calendar would be felt in religious circles. The advocates of this calendar, it was pointed out, propose that it be adopted on Jan. 1, 1945. In order that the year may begin with Sunday, it is proposed that the Sunday, December 31, be declared "A world holiday". In reality Monday, then, the second day of the weekly cycle, as it has come down through the ages, would be made Sunday, the first day of the new calendar year.

The resolution adopted also features the economic and religious disabilities and hardships that would be inflicted upon Christians and Jews if they prove faithful to their convictions.

PARTICULARLY THIS YEAR!

DON'T TRAVEL

Unless You Must

All transportation today is taxed to capacity—and there are too many UNESSENTIAL TRAVELERS (20 to 30% says ODT) occupying critically needed space.

So enjoy a vacation at home this year. You have always wanted to do just that anyway. Discover comfort, beauty and recreation advantages you never dreamed existed—and feel fit as never before when it's all over.

After Victory? Well, Florida Motor Lines will see to it that you are richly rewarded for your patriotic understanding and co-operation.

Speed LABOR DAY at Home

LABOR DAY—has always been a peak for pleasure travel. Be wise this year and avoid all travel to resort spots. Prove your patriotism by doing all you can to help a critical transportation problem.

FLORIDA MOTOR LINES

Ever since its first track was laid and its first train chugged into the depot, your railroad has been an important part of the life and progress of your community.

Year after year its trains brought in more people, delivered food, building material and other necessities, carried your products to distant markets. It even paid a substantial share of the taxes to support your local schools and government.

Gradually with its help your community grew and improved. Your railroad became a modern double track system over which sleek streamliners brought new crowds of travelers.

Then the war came and other forms of transportation were curtailed. But your old railroad neighbor was there, able to shoulder a huge extra volume of freight and passenger traffic. As a result your community went on living much the same as before.

And so down through the years, in peace and war, your railroad has proved a pretty good neighbor to have around—one you will also need as a partner in fighting the economic battles of the future.

Like other neighbors in your community, your railroad is a local property-owner and taxpayer, sharing your dreams of a better tomorrow, and working to make those dreams come true.

FLORIDA EAST COAST RAILWAY

A Florida Industry and Institution

TIME TO THINK!

Florida's amazing transition from the quiet of farms and groves into the world's winter playground, back of which grew a vast agricultural empire, has excited the attention of a continent, and contributed to a growth unequalled in the nation. Equally amazing was the manner in which it turned into an armed camp, as whole new cities were built to meet requirements of the armed services. At this time, Florida became in truth the aerial gateway to the world, and stepped out onto the threshold of its industrial future.

Florida, because of her strategic location, is regarded to world fame, its industrial year around character, the vast reservoir of trained power service under progressive business management and an alert and united citizenry, has all the elements for success as it advances toward a new adventure in the post-war era—realization of its industrial possibilities... with its new opportunities... and creation of profitable year around employment.

To reach the goal, Florida must use every advantage and resource at her command. By working together, Florida's industrial future is assured.

As an integral part of the community, Florida Power & Light Company shares in the common success and seeks the common goal. To aid in the industrial development of the state, it can now make available to the cities, towns and communities of its system the same organization of trained consultants that received national recognition for war-time achievements.

The time is here for giving thought to the future. Florida's growth is not only a promise of what it can be in the future if we advance together and use the powerful forces already at our command. Think Industrial Florida... then Help Build It.
